Legal Anywhere Announces Integration with Worldox

Now, lawyers can easily share documents and collaborate securely with outside parties to a matter directly from Worldox.

Lake Oswego, OR –November 8, 2013—Legal Anywhere--Today, Legal Anywhere announces a partnership and product integration with Worldox. Legal Anywhere Collaborator is a secure extranet designed specifically to accommodate all of a law firm's collaboration needs; from basic secure file transfer to more sophisticated collaboration sites such as deal rooms or litigation repositories with customized workflow.

The integration between Worldox and Legal Anywhere, the leading law firm extranet system, makes it easy for lawyers to collaborate efficiently and securely with both internal and external participants. This integration allows Worldox users to quickly select documents within Worldox and securely share them with clients and other external participants on the Legal Anywhere extranet portal.

Currently, many small and mid-sized law firms share all information regarding a Case through email or through less secure and rudimentary file sharing options. With Legal Anywhere, law firms are able to offer clients secure access to their information by logging into the firm's Legal Anywhere extranet site, which is completely customized to match the firm's web presence and branding. "This new integration will be very beneficial to our clients. We are very pleased with the support and customer care that we have seen from Legal Anywhere as reported by our mutual clients. Our Clients will greatly benefit from this new product integration by allowing them to better share and collaborate work product with their customers", Said Ray Zwiefelhofer, President World Software Corporation.

Legal Anywhere is hosted within a dedicated, very secure data center and offers more security than generic file sharing services that are hosted on the 'cloud'. Each firm's data is stored separately from other law firms' data and maintained in separate databases. Legal Anywhere also offers firms full security control over documents from full editing rights to view only—which provides the firm with the option of disabling certain users' ability to print, download, copy or save files. Version control, audit trails, reporting, search tools, calendaring, client workflow and metadata scrubbing are just a few of the unique features of Legal Anywhere.
