

MetaJure ILLUMINATE™ and Worldox®

FAST, EASY ACCESS to 100% of the knowledge in your law firm

An affordable Enterprise Search product

With attorneys handling more than 26,000 documents every year—70 per day—email and document management have become major challenges for every modern law firm. Although half of US firms have a document management system, more than 50% of their emails and documents are outside their DMS.

MetaJure ILLUMINATE is the enterprise search product that brings all of this information to light. ILLUMINATE gives lawyers and their firms the ability to efficiently locate 100% of their emails and electronic documents across their enterprise - quickly and easily. ILLUMINATE is fully integrated with Worldox, giving attorneys a seamless experience so they can realize greater value from their work product, expertise and wisdom.

ILLUMINATE automatically captures, OCR's and indexes all of the documents, folders, and email within a law firm, including the information on personal computers, network drives, Worldox repository and other dedicated storage sites - without disrupting the data. It makes all of the information easily accessible through an intuitive, Google-like interface, and enables sharing permissions that lawyers can easily customize.

A decade ago an 80-person firm selected Worldox® as their central repository for documents plus other products for email and specialized files. Fast forward eight years and the systems contained over seven million documents. Today, thanks to the seamless integration between MetaJure ILLUMINATE and Worldox, lawyers find what they need quickly and easily, regardless of where the information resides.

A search tool for legacy data, hidden repositories & unique data locations

Firms need fast, easy access to the information often locked in legacy repositories, discovery files and proprietary systems. With ILLUMINATE and Worldox, lawyers and their staff no longer have to spend time tagging and profiling legacy data, and they can avoid the expense of converting old files. Now, these important records are easily available to attorneys and staff, giving them access to the very intellectual property that can provide a competitive advantage.

Firms are using ILLUMINATE today to unlock their knowledge and access:

- Legacy data and unstructured information on file shares
- Case files, including documents from both clients and opposing counsel
- Dedicated or special network drives, such as those that include only email

Smart pricing
